2012 CBH/SAA Hall of Fame Inductee

Mike Pottorff of Winchester has been active in archery since 1955. He became interested in archery at the age of 8 while watching Robin Hood on tv. He bought his first bow from Red Slack's archery shop in El Monte and the rest became history.

Some of Mike's accomplishments are being a co-founder of San Diego's Bear State Bowhunters in 1968, earned the NFAA Master Bowhunter status by harvesting 6 different species of big game and 24 different species of small game and then repeating the feat in 2003 and received the Grand Master status. Only eight other hunters have achieved this status.

Mike has achieved regular membership in the CBH Big Game Club with the taking of 8 animals. He entered his first species in the Big Game Club in 1969 and has since taken a multitude of Big & Small Game in California, Texas, Colorado and Arizona with a bow and arrow.

Mike was a commissioner on the San Diego County Fish & Wildlife Board for 20 years, keeping involved in hunting and fishing issues. He has testified before city councils, county commissions, DFG, DFG Commission and legislative hearings at the state capitol.

If that wasn't enough, Mike was a founding member of the San Diego Chapter of the California Waterfowl Association, co-founder of Waterfowlers Against Baiting, founding member of San Diego's Pheasants Forever Chapter and member of the National Wild Turkey Federation.

As a member of NWTF, Mike got the ear of DFG Biologist John Massy and saw that turkeys would be transplanted in the Cleveland National Forest leading to another wildlife success story of wild turkeys, a cross between the Rio Grand and the Eastern Turkey.

Mike is also a member of the Southern Steelhead Recovery Coalition, ran the North San Diego County Dove Banding Station, was a monitor of Wood Duck nesting boxes on Camp Pendelton, co-founded Whistling Wings Duck Club, chaired Oceanside Building Authority, appointed to San Diego County Fish & Wildlife Advisory Commission, Honorable Mention for Outdoor Person of the Year in Fishing & Hunting News in 1989, Volunteerism Award from Fish & Wildlife Commission in 1991, "Good Guy" Award SD Fish & Game, started "Outdoor Report" in the Daily Californian in 1992, 1st place Outdoor Conservation Alliance for an article appearing in Western Outdoor News 1995.

Mike has been a committed individual for hunting rights and wildlife issues and an accomplished hunter with a bow and arrow. He is deserving of recognition into the California Bowmen Hunters/State Archery Association Hall of Fame.

2012 CBH/SAA Hall of Fame Inductee:

Chuck Rosario became interested in archery at the early age of 7 while reading about the Native American Indians and their primitive weapons. He made his first bow from a shrub branch and a strip of inner tube while using a milk weed stem with a nail pushed into it, and shot for hours in the open field next to his house.

While in high school, archery was only offered to the girl's athletic dept so he would watch them after school until the instructor allowed him to join in and shoot a few arrows. This series of events led to his first official purchase of a Ted Williams Recurve from Montgomery Wards.

By 1970, he was invited to go hunting, but did not harvest his first deer until 1974 above Ebbett Pass in California. He soon found out through Jim Sweeney, the hunt organizer for Frontier Archery, that there were "hunts" on Catalina and Santa Cruz Islands and yes, he went. He blazed his own trails on the islands taking numerous counts of game including deer, sheep, exotics and various small game.

Chuck got involved in target/tournament shooting in the late 70's and hasn't stopped since.

Chuck has attended tournaments all over the country, including Canada and Mexico.

He has won many pins and ribbons along with trophies from CBH/SAA State Field, Target, Indoor and the North American Field Archery Championships. He has also won the silver bowls from NFAA Outdoor Nationals.

Chuck had served as President of California Inland Bowhunters Association and has been a member of Diablo Bowmen, Briones Archers and Yahi Bowmen. He also started a club called Golden Bear Archers which was maintained for 5 years despite the incredible amount of work it took to build a club or range.

It was when Chuck met Red Cruse that Chuck got involved with CBH/SAA. He volunteered for the position of 2nd VP of Field and served in that position for over 20 years from 1987 to 2009.

After 20+ years of volunteering with CBH/SAA, he was ready to watch his arrow fly from his bow to the target again. He enjoys this with his wife Bobbi, who had been his supporter for so many years, and with his two daughters, Crystal and Jennyfer and his two granddaughters. His favorite pastime has become furbearer season and he continues to introduce new people into bow hunting and competitive archery as he has done since the beginning, just by sharing his love for archery.

Chuck is deserving of recognition in the CBH/SAA Hall of Fame.
