Legislative Team Update by Amanda Duchardt, CBH/SAA Legislative Director

AB 28 – legislation which would impose an excise tax in the amount of 11% on the retail sale of all firearms, firearm parts, and ammunition – is still alive and is anticipated to pass out of the Senate Appropriations Committee on September 1. Afterward, it could be heard on the Senate Floor for vote any day. On the Senate Floor, it will require a 2/3 majority vote to pass, which means we need 6 democrat senators to vote no or not vote at all. Our efforts to secure the votes to kill the bill on the Senate Floor are ongoing and you can still help. PLEASE contact your State Senate representative and urge them to vote “NO” on AB 28. See the Senate Floor Alert in this newsletter, which will provide you with some talking points for when you contact your Senator. Note that your Senator “NOT VOTING” on the bill is as good as a “NO” vote. Find your representative here: <https://findyourrep.legislature.ca.gov/>

We are also keeping a close eye on AB 262 – legislation related to children’s camps’ safety and regulation. As currently amended, AB 262 would require the Department of Social Services (DSS) to convene and consult with a stakeholder group on children’s camp safety. The bill would require the stakeholder group to be composed of representatives of designated state entities, including, but not limited to, the State Department of Public Health and the State Department of Education, and other stakeholders, such as parent advocate groups, children’s advocates and safety groups, and local parks and health departments. The bill would require the recommendations to address, among other things, a definition for a children’s camp, and child supervision requirements – including appropriate qualifications and training for camp staff that oversee activities that carry an “inherent or heightened risk”, such as gun ranges, swimming, and horseback riding. The bill would require DSS, by June 1, 2025, to issue its recommendations in a report to the Legislature.

CNH/SAA and our partners in the California Hunting and Conservation Coalition believe that AB 262 is highly dangerous legislation due to its potential to result in unnecessary, burdensome, and costly regulations being placed on youth recreational camps – including those which introduce and educate youth on wildlife conservation and our hunting, fishing, shooting and archery pastimes. This is legislation looking to solve a problem that does not exist! To address our concerns, our lobbyist, Ducks Unlimited (DU), and California Rifle and Pistol Association (CRPA) have met with the author’s office three times to secure amendments to the bill which would ensure wildlife conservation and shooting organizations are wholly represented in the stakeholder group discussions and will be meeting again with the author’s office very soon to further discuss possible amendments. AB 262 has been set to be heard again in Senate Appropriations Committee on September 1 and could face a vote on the Senate floor thereafter. Once again, we ask you to contact your senators and urge them to VOTE NO on this legislation.

Our lobbyist and CHCC partners will continue to apply maximum opposition to these bills and we will keep you apprised of all notable developments. Please DO YOUR PART to assist.

Finally, in early August, news outlets began reporting that federal funding for archery programs, hunter education classes, wilderness and outdoor classes, and school sponsored target shooting teams were being excluded from federal education funding under the Bipartisan Safer Communities Act (BSCA). Legislative Team Update cont from page 3- The issue stems from the Department of Education (DOE) relying on too strict of an interpretation of language in the bill that excludes funds for "training in the use of a dangerous weapon". However, this interpretation of the language is inconsistent with the legislative intent, largely driven by Senator Chris Murphy (D-CT), to prohibit funds from being used for training school resource officers because the Senator had concerns with more armed personnel in schools.

CBH/SAA hopes that the DOE can reverse this action without needing a legislative fix. Our lobbyist Bill Gaines engaged the Congressional Sportsmen's Caucus Leaders and Rep. Mike Thompson's (D/CA-4) and his staff to author a bipartisan letter to the DOE on this concern. Rep. Thompson is Chairman of the Congressional Gun Violence Prevention Task Force so we expect his letter to carry significant weight. I am pleased to say that this letter was delivered to the Secretary of the DOE in late August and a similar letter was sent by the Congressional Sportsmen's Caucus!

These letters highlight the importance of enrichment programs like archery and hunter education in helping youth develop life skills, learn firearm safety, and build self-esteem. Furthermore, these programs support a healthy and active lifestyle and mental health. The letters also highlight the success of the National Archery in the Schools Program (NASP), which engages 1.3 million students each year, including students with developmental and/or physical challenges. Participation in NASP helps students perform better in school and helps them develop confidence, humility, ability to handle pressure, sportsmanship, dealing with success and failure, and being part of a team - ALL essential life skills. CBH/SAA and Gaines and Associates will continue to work on this issue in a variety of ways to ensure that this critical funding for archery programs and hunter education is restored ASAP. Stay tuned!

Beauty - and Maximizing Efficiency

In July this column touched on being prepared and arrow builds utilizing higher Forward of Center weights. The focus in August stressed the importance of “quiet” and some controllable variables were presented. By September the need to know what you were to look for in the field and a brief overview of our Big Game Club’s scoring methods were discussed. With that well-needed break you had time to put hunts together and harvest some delicious meals to make the winter months even more enjoyable. (See the recipe for preparing FLANK STEAKS and Cowboy Candy elsewhere in this issue). This month we will look at more conceptions which may be helpful to energetic individuals wishing to romanticize the beauties of archery of old. At the same time ideas will be thrown to the wind should readers decide to spend rainy days inside. Be forewarned however, accusations of being too much of a stickler may follow should you delve down paths written herein.

Let’s begin with sheer beauty before moving into efficiency too heavily. This writer is not sure of the draw woods can have on others, yet wishes to share a little here. Well-crafted and finished wooden products stun most eyes as observed to the right. While bow design unquestionably impacts efficiency of arrow cast and quickness, true bowyers know certain wood characteristics that enhance the delivery of an arrow further. Many of these exotic woods hail from outside the United States. Thus the price of handmade bows escalates to, or even surpasses those of firearms. Most of these discoveries and utilizations have been during the past 20 years. This seemed to coincide with the influx of more noted “Master Bowyers”. Conversely, arrow builds; although with newer materials and technologies, have resorted to some “ancient methods” which were hard to beat. A point in case is the new Victory VXT shaft.

The concepts mirror what Native Americans had known and used for years. Breaking this statement down should clarify for those with raised eyebrows at this point. Native Americans loved colors and effectively knew how to blend them together to achieve the most contrast and eye appeal. Those who create their own arrows today, or have them custom built follow the same guidelines. People of old also were the first to discover “weight forward”. After several attempts to harvest “big fish” (salmon) the spears that struck the fish bounced back. Spears’ narrow tips were smashed or broken off. Masters of invention and matters of survival lead to experimentation. Instead of using the small end of the willow or alder, the larger end was sharpened and fired to harden the leading edge. By nature, the shaft tapered toward the rear end. Now the spear was more durable as well as more effective. Similarly, the people of old developed methods to deal with lost or broken tips.

Imagine spending the hours needed to fashion an obsidian arrowhead. Imagine your dismay losing it, or having it break. Necessity again prevailed. Many of the natives who lived around wetlands used reeds for their arrows. They developed “tips” which could be interchanged, or replaced if damaged or lost (like screw-in inserts). This not only allowed them to continue their hunts, but return with more game since they no longer had to abandon their quest prematurely.

Back to the Victory VXT shafts; they follow many of these characteristics. The shafts are larger in the front, tapered down in the back. The “Shok” inserts protect (or “harden”) the impact part of the arrow with either aluminum or steel (depending how much strength and/or FOC you desire). Inserts now are threaded so tips are interchangeable. Technology makes it possible to maintain $\pm .001$ ” tolerance of straightness in this tapered shaft which also has incredibly low wind drift. But wait, there’s more on efficiency! Let’s shift to the subject of nocking points. There have been some great new developments here as well. In earlier articles “weight” has been discussed quite a lot (and some here as well). What about your nock set? Most of us used the small brass “horseshoe” style with an inner liner of rubber to protect our strings - right?

For more than fifty years this little “tool” assisted us in returning to the same precise point to anchor our arrows just below. That little bugger, if you used one, weighed 5.3 grains. Well, that doesn’t sound like much of anything, does it? Yes,... you’re correct - however you needed a pair of nocking pliers to remove or adjust it up or down to desired position. But with its’ counterpart, no pliers are needed, a knife will do - or a couple of twists to move it up or down:

Enter the adjustable nocking point - brilliant! Oh, and check it out; 5 times less weight! Even with one placed above and below (so the shaft can’t walk the string) you’re still half the weight as one brass nock point. We all know what that means - lighter weight on string - string recovers quicker - arrow is faster! As a matter of fact your perfectly tuned shaft may now need a slight adjustment to again be perfect. So, what is the down side? You HAVE to be able to tie knots! Didn’t get that Boy Scout Badge? Not to worry! Here are the steps (picture by picture), you can do it! If you’re like me you might say: “I learn better when someone shows me”. Okay, we have you covered too, as long as you have the internet. Check out YouTube TTT Archery - Adjustable Tie Nocks (the right way).

Flank Steak with Cherry Marmalade

Marinade

2 Cups cherry juice
1 Cup Balsamic Vinegar
4 Cloves Garlic - crushed
2 T. Kosher Salt
1 - 2 T. Freshly Ground Black Pepper

1 Flank steak (about 16 ounces)

Prepare the marinade: Mix cherry juice, vinegar, garlic, and 1/2 of the salt and pepper.

Remove the steak from the packaging. Place in a 1-gallon resealable bag. Add marinade to the bag and seal. I turn the bag over and back a few times to coat the steak. Refrigerate for 2 to 4 hours. Occasionally, turn the bag over to ensure the steak is well coated with the marinade.

Remove the bag from the refrigerator. Preheat the grill to medium heat. Remove steak from the marinade and pat dry. Salt and pepper each side with the remaining spices.

Play steak on the grill. Cook each side for about five minutes or until the internal temperature reaches 135F, using a meat thermometer. Remove steak from heat, wrap in tinted foil and let rest for 3 to 10 minutes or until the internal temperature reaches 145F. sure extra tenderness then serve on top of your favorite solid blend.

Makes 4 servings.

FLOOR ALERT VOTE “NO” ON AB 28!

Our organizations, which collectively represent hundreds of thousands of sportsmen and women and other wildlife enthusiasts across California, strongly urge you to VOTE “NO” on AB 28 – legislation which would impose an additional 11% excise tax on the retail sale of all sporting arms, firearm parts, and ammunition.

- All Californians benefit from programs intended to reduce illegal gun violence. Yet AB 28 would unjustifiably place the entire burden of funding their implementation on the backs of citizens who legally purchase and lawfully use firearms and ammunition.
- By substantially raising the cost of firearms and ammunition, AB 28 would disproportionately impact the ability of economically disadvantaged communities and individuals to legally purchase firearms and ammunition to protect themselves and their loved ones.
- AB 28 would double the excise tax law-abiding hunters and shooters already pay on firearms and ammunition – effectively raising the total tax rate on these items to nearly 30%.
- Lawful hunters and shooters already pay an 11% excise tax on long guns, ammunition, archery, and other hunting equipment as well as a 10% excise tax on handguns pursuant to federal Pittman-Robertson Act (PR). Those dollars are allocated back to states to fund beneficial programs – including wildlife habitat projects that benefit game and non-game species. This year alone, California was allocated over $30 million in federal PR dollars which will fund a large portion of our state’s wildlife management, conservation, and research efforts.
- By doubling the excise tax law-abiding hunters and shooters already pay on all firearms and ammunition, AB 28 would markedly reduce their sales and, in turn, the associated federal PR funding allocated back to California for critical wildlife conservation and management efforts.
- Additionally, by significantly raising the cost of purchasing a firearm and ammunition in California, AB 28 would also impede the ability of economically disadvantaged individuals to equitably access our hunting and shooting sports – at a time when the Administration and the Legislature are seeking to increase access and participation in outdoor recreation for all Californians.

AB 28 would inequitably impact the ability of the disadvantaged and economically challenged to protect themselves and their families, unjustly place the entire burden of funding these initiatives on California’s innocent and law-abiding hunters and shooters, and negatively impact our wildlife and their habitats.

VOTE “NO” ON AB 28!

Thank You for your Donations to the CBHSAA Legislative Defense Fund!
By Amanda Duchardt - Legislative Coordinator

The CBH/SAA Legislative Team would like to extend our wholehearted thanks all those that donated to the Legislative Defense Fund. It is our goal to promote wildlife conservation and protect our archery and hunting heritage within the state political system. With your donations, the CBH/SAA Legislative Team can attend important meetings and react to issues that are impacting our sport. We can also meet our financial obligations to Gaines and Associates, who represent us in the state capital and FGC meetings throughout the State. Additionally, it is our responsibility to cover expenses such as when we need to retain a legal team to protect us and our sport. This is why your donations, in any amount, are so important. Again, we thank those listed below in addition to those that donated previously for their support!
